

Dessert Dash is a card game in which the players race to finish their deck of cards by using their hand of cards to match cards on the decks to get rid of them.

1. Was it fun?

The game was fun. It had a good pace.

2. What were the player interactions?

The player interactions included playing cards that had a common attribute with the cards on top of the decks.

3. How long did it take to learn?

The game took about five minutes to learn; there weren't many rules to follow and remember, so that made it easy.

4. What was the most frustrating moment or aspect of what you just played?

The most frustrating aspect was deciding who played a card first.

5. What was your favorite moment or aspect of what you just played?

My favorite aspect of the game was the fast pace.

6. Was there anything you wanted to do that you couldn't?

There was nothing I wanted to do that I couldn't during the game.

7. If you had a magic wand to wave, and you could change, add, or remove anything from the experience, what would it be?

I would try and add some sort of way to sabotage your opponent.

8. Is this a game you would play again?

I would play this game again because it is quick and fun. It was easy to pick up, and I loved the level of competitiveness.
